Gifts Help Former Local Girl

Sclerosis Victim Heads West

While their two young sons wait at home, Mr. and Mrs. Zalman Kaufman left Tuesday for St. Joseph Hospital in Tacoma, Wash., where Mrs. Kaufman hopes to find recovery from multiple sclerosis—the muscular disease which took the life of baseball star Lou Gehrig.

The trip of the Kaufmans, both former residents of East Liverpool, to the Tacoma hospital was made possible by contributions taken up among Zalman's fellow workers at the Westinghouse plant in Vanport, plus gifts of a number of individuals, including Mrs. Kaufman's schoolmates in the Class of 1937 at East Liverpool High School.

They left by air Tuesday morning from Allegheny Airport in Pittsburgh. How long they will remain depends on Mrs. Kaufman's response to treatment.

The boys will stay with Mrs. Kaufman's sister, Mrs. Kyle McPherson, who also lives in Van Buren Homes.

Westinghouse workers raised $2,234 for the trip. Classmates here in East Liverpool contributed $236, and the Kaufmans' neighbors in Van Buren Homes donated another $90.

Mrs. Kaufman, 32, who has had sclerosis four years, is the former Helen Bangor, daughter of Roy Bangor, 626 Avondale St. Her husband is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kaufman, 1062 Oak St.

Britain Says 'No' To U.S. On Halting Of Red Trade

House G.O.P. Maps Drive To Slash Aid

Day Of Debate Set; Action Due Thursday On Amendments

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—Economy-minded House Republicans organized a drive today to slash up to $1,000,000,000 from the administration's $8,500,000,000 foreign aid bill.

But the House foreign affairs committee, apparently anticipating the G.O.P. drive, said in a formal report yesterday that Europe's biggest defense problem now is money, not manpower. And it quoted General Dwight D. Eisenhower to that effect.

The committee has recommended a $851,250,000 cut in the foreign aid bill. A majority of committee members apparently feels that western defense efforts can afford no greater economies.

The House plans a full day of debate today. Action on amendments, including expected Republican-sponsored moves to slash the foreign aid total, is scheduled to begin tomorrow.

Joy Proposes Subcommittee

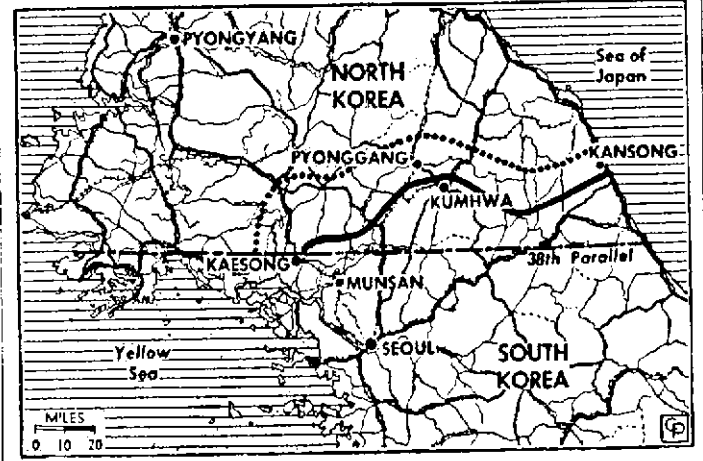

Reds Appear Interested In Plan To Break Deadlock

MUNSAN, Korea, Aug. 15 (AP)—United Nations delegates suggested today that a subcommittee be set up to break through the formality of Korean truce negotiations and attempt to settle the buffer zone deadlock.

Red delegates showed interest, a U. N. spokesman said.

Simultaneously, U. N. command headquarters in Tokyo announced that the Allies, if necessary, will continue "destroying or driving out of Korea" the Red Chinese and Korean armies.

At Kaesong, the chief U. N. delegate, Vice Admiral C. Turner Joy, proposed a two-man committee—one from each side—seek an end to the deadlock in an air of informality.

He proposed the subcommittee "meet around rather than across the table."

They would thus escape "the formality of utterances" which he said contributed to the 3-week-old dispute over where to place a military dividing line across Korea that would separate opposing armies during an armistice.

Claims Ban Won't Halt Communism

Shawcross Defends England's Relations With Eastern Europe

LONDON, Aug. 15 (AP)—Great Britain said today she cannot abandon trade with eastern Europe and appealed to the United States to understand that trade embargoes will not put an end to communism.

Sir Hartley Shawcross, president of the Board of Trade, rejected demands made in the U. S. for a ban on all trade with the Communist bloc.

Speaking at Truro, Cornwall, to open the Cornish Industries Fair, Shawcross said:

"I beg our American friends to realize that if we have trading relations with Communist countries as well as with them (the Americans), it is no indication of disloyalty to the common cause of freedom and democracy which our countries are pledged to defend."

He said that "just as the Americans recognize that trade between Japan and Communist China is a normal pattern in the Far East, so trade between east and western Europe has always been a regular and important feature of Europe's economy."

In the first five months of this year, Britain bought $58,033,000 worth of commodities from Russia, nearly twice as much as in the same period last year. However, this increase is due partly to higher prices.

In the same period, Britain reduced exports to Russia by more than half—from $16,388,888 in the first five months of 1950 to $5,890,000 this year.

Under a timber contract recently signed, the U. S. S. R. agrees to deliver $28,000,000 worth of timber to Britain, with the option of supplying another $14,000,000 worth. The period covered by the contract has not been disclosed.

The two nations now have started talks on the purchase by Britain of nearly 1,000,000 tons of Soviet coarse grains.

Chicago Killer Hunted After Breaking Jail

Police Ordered To 'Shoot To Kill' After Fugitive Slays Guard

CHICAGO, Aug. 15 (AP)—Police with "shoot-to-kill" orders searched through Chicago today for a rapist-slayer who killed a guard and jumped a jail wall in a desperate attempt to beat the electric chair.

The fugitive, Harry Williams, is armed with the riot gun of the guard he killed in breaking from the Cook county jail last night.

Williams, 20, 6-foot-2 Negro, had been sentenced to death in the electric chair Sept. 14 for murder.

Jail Warden Philip Scanlan and Sheriff John E. Babb issued the "shoot-to-kill" order. Babb personally offered a $1,000 reward for Williams' capture—dead or alive.

A short time after he escaped, Williams attempted to hold up a motorist about a mile from the jail, which is at 26th St. and California Ave., on the southwest side. A policeman opened fire on Williams and he fled.

Later, scores of police in more than a dozen squad cars surrounded a rooming house on the South Side when it was discovered Williams had been there at the home of his uncle, William Hawkins. In search of a pair of shoes. It was not known why he was barefooted.

Hawkins said Williams couldn't find any shoes to fit him. Just then a sound car arrived and Williams fled again.

"This man is so desperate he never will be taken alive," Scanlan said.

The warden said Raymond Jenko, 20, white, who also was sentenced to die for murder, was seized in Williams' cell in the death row. He said Williams and Jenko were together in the escape plot, but that Jenko remained in the cell.

Williams had confessed murdering a Negro woman in a purse-snatching attempt. He also was identified in 10 rapes and five robberies. He was arrested Dec. 11 after he wounded two detectives who wanted to question him as a rape suspect.

Paradise Ends For 3 'Camping' In Detroit Garage

DETROIT, Aug. 15 (AP)—A paradise has ended for a young brother and sister—a paradise of: No grown-ups to tell them what to do. No baths. All the hotdogs, pop and marshmallows they could eat.

The pair, 13-year-old Raymond Rzedzian and his sister Diane, 10, had been sought since they disappeared recently. They'd casually announced they were going "camping."

They were found yesterday happily living in an abandoned garage three miles from home.

There they'd set up "camp." Police came upon them getting ready to toast marshmallows at a blazing bonfire along with 14-year-old Robert Taylor.

Police got on the trail because of young Taylor. When he also was reported missing, a check of his friends led officers to the garage. The three had used packing boxes for makeshift bunks and a table. Raymond said he mowed lawns and carried bundles at a super-market to cover the cost of living—that is, their menu of hotdogs, ice cream and candy bars.

A near-by park drinking fountain provided their water—and what was washing them.

Their father, Edward Rzedzian, said the next time his kids announce they're going "camping" he'll take them more seriously and take steps to forestall any more setting up of a vagabond heaven.

Iran Delivers Ultimatum To Britain On Oil

Threatens To Break Off Talks Unless 3 Points Are Accepted

TEHERAN, Aug. 15 (UP)—Iran handed Great Britain a three-point ultimatum today and threatened to break off oil negotiations unless it is accepted.

Iranian Vice-premier Mo'atzen Fateni said Britain must accept these three points:

- 1.—Britain must buy oil from the Iranian National Oil Co.
- 2.—Iran will decide the amount of compensation to be paid the British-owned Anglo-Iranian Oil Co., whose nationalization by Iran led to the present dispute.
- 3.—British employees of Anglo-Iranian must remain on duty at the refinery in Abadan, Iran.

Fateni said Britain's eight-point memorandum for solving the oil dispute, handed the Iranians by Lord Privy Seal Richard Stokes yesterday, did not mention these matters.

Iranian officials emphasized the ultimatum does not mean that Iran has rejected Britain's proposals. The two delegations still were thrashing out disputed points at further meetings today.

Allied Forces Driven From Hill By Enemy

Reds Counter-attack On Eastern Front; Planes, Ships Busy

KOREA, Aug. 15 (AP)—Red troops, counter-attacking with mortar and machine gun fire, drove United Nations forces off a hill on the eastern front in the only sizable ground action reported in Korea today.

Allied troops had fought for the hill last night.

The hill is one of five near Kaesong, objective of a three-day battle. The Reds hold two, the Allies two. The fifth hill has been under artillery fire for 36 hours.

Elsewhere along the front, patrols occasionally stirred up sharp, deadly fights.

The Fifth Air Force flew more than 350 combat sorties before 6 p.m. Wednesday. The strikes, like most of 925 flown Tuesday, were directed against Red transport and supplies.

Carrier planes joined land-based aircraft in hammering at highways and rail lines the Reds have been using to reinforce and supply their front-line troops. Red road traffic continued to drop, pilots reported.

The U.S. cruiser Toledo and the Dutch destroyer Van Galen steamed up the east coast and worked over targets at Chongjin. The port is 265 miles north of the 38th Parallel and less than 100 miles south of Russian territory.

Following a meeting yesterday of the House Republican policy committee, G.O.P. Leader Joseph Martin of Massachusetts reported strong sentiment for cuts "up to a billion dollars" in the aid program.

Martin called a meeting of the full House Republican membership for late today to discuss the legislation.

Stork Delivers Boy In Ambulance Halted By Traffic

An eight-pound bouncing boy was in such a hurry to be born Tuesday that he arrived in an ambulance in which his mother was en route to City Hospital.

The stork delivered Eugene Freeman Barker while the ambulance was halted on the Chester Hill, tied up in traffic. The mother, Mrs. Walter Barker of Clinton, Pa., and baby were admitted to City Hospital about 11:30 a. m., apparently none the worse for the experience.

Father Barker arrived at the hospital a few minutes later.

The birth was unattended as John E. Welch, operator of the Welch Funeral Home of Hookstown, couldn't leave the wheel of the ambulance as he steered through the traffic openings in efforts to beat the stork.

Koreans Get New Pledge From Truman

'Won't Forsake You,' President Says On Republic's Birthday

PUSAN, Korea, Aug. 15 (AP)—President Truman today told the people of war-ravaged Korea "we shall not fail you nor forsake you."

The message from the U. S. chief executive to Korean President Syngman Rhee was read to 1,000 Korean political leaders gathered to celebrate the third birthday of the Republic of Korea.

Speeches and parades in this temporary capital of the republic today also marked the sixth anniversary of the end of Korea's 40-year occupation by the Japanese.

"What we fight for is right," Truman asserted. "We shall ultimately be victorious."

Infantry and armored units paraded, planes roared overhead, government officials spoke and people marched in long lines on this day of double celebration.

Banner-waving, chanting Korean marchers expressed opposition to any Korean war armistice along the 38th Parallel.

Rhee said: "This republican government of ours owes its conception and existence largely to the United States and the United Nations. We must never forget this fact as we celebrate here today the birth of freedom in our land of the morning calm."

The demonstrations were orderly but sometimes noisy as marchers cheered and raised their flags and banners in celebration.

The streets were more crowded than in months.

Wrecked Truck Pins Sailor, 29, Near Newell

A Newell sailor home on leave was injured Tuesday at 10:15 p.m. when pinned under a light pickup truck in a mishap on the Sixth St. Road Hill in Newell.

The truck overturned after hitting an embankment when he failed to negotiate a curve.

Boatswain's Mate Kenneth Osburn, 29, of First St., was admitted to City Hospital at 10:45 p.m. with lacerations of the right side of the face, neck and ear and scalp contusions. He signed his own release, a few hours later. He was scheduled for X-rays today.

Deputy Sheriff Clayton Stine of Newell and Dale Thorne of Chester investigated. Volunteers helped lift the extensively damaged truck off the injured man.

Staffs Chosen For Precincts

Election Board Picks 762 For Nov. 6 Task

The County Election Board today appointed 762 judges and clerks to staff its 127 precincts for the Nov. 6 general election.

Effective Sept. 15, the appointments run a year. That means the precinct workers will serve for the Fall balloting, next May's primaries and any intervening special elections.

Each polling place is staffed by six persons—three from each political party.

In other election preparations, the board has signed contracts for all locations that will be used as voting places. It also has bought new equipment, including voting booths, ballot boxes and tables, for five newly-created precincts.

The board recently established three new voting areas in East Liverpool and one each in Madison Township and Columbiana Village.

Copy is ready for printing Fall ballots, but the board attempts to get a more satisfactory price on the contract. The lone bid it received Monday night was termed "excessive" and Frank R. O'Hanlon, clerk, was instructed to contact other printers for prices.

O'Hanlon said the board will "take definite action" on the ballot contract before Aug. 23.

O'Hanlon said copy is ready on 18 questions and issues that have been filed, with 25 in all expected. The board also has listed candidates nominated in the May primaries and those who filed as non-partisan and independent aspirants for city, village, township and school district offices.

Poll books already are on order. The board awarded a contract in the Spring to the Columbus Blank Book Co. of Columbus to furnish poll books for both the primaries and the general election.

Currie Gets Chance To Answer Red Charge

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—Senator McCarran (D) of Nevada said today that former White House aide Laughlin Currie will get a chance to reply to charges that he helped a Communist spy ring in World War Two. Currie has denied them in the past.

Showers May Nip Heat Wave

It may get hotter before it gets cooler.

That's what the weatherman said as he predicted another day of high temperatures and sticky humidity after the mercury reached a sizzling 92 degrees at Dam 8 Tuesday.

But cheer up, he also expects thundershowers tonight and Thursday, followed by partly cloudy and cooler. Showers were forecast in scattered sections of Ohio today, but whether the Ohio Valley will share in the relief was not certain.

The dam said the 92-mark was reached yesterday between 3 and 4 p. m. The midnight temperature was 72 and the day dawned with a reading of 62, then the mercury started climbing as the sun came out.

East Liverpool almost got a storm last night, but escaped with only gusty winds, especially in Glenmoor. The thunderstorm with lightning and a heavy rain centered in the East Palestine-Negley district.

The rain washed out some corn, farmers reported, and accompanying winds reached a high velocity. It lasted about 20 minutes. The Calcutta-Fredericktown district also had some rain but none fell here, according to the dam.

Winona Child Injured Badly When Hit By Car

WINONA, Aug. 15 (Special)—A 5-year-old district girl is in "critical" condition today at Salem Central Clinic with fractures of the skull and both arms and lacerations of the head and arms received when hit by an auto Tuesday at 7 p.m. on the Winona-Teagarden Road.

She is Janice E. Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Hall of Winona, R. D.

The State Highway Patrol said the child darted from between parked cars into the path of an auto driven by Dorothy Wilson of East Rochester, R. D. 1.

100 Are Lopped Off In Head-Hunting Orgy

NEW DELHI, Aug. 15 (AP)—The Times of India reported from Assam today that 100 feuding tribesmen have had their heads lopped off in clan warfare in the Naga hills bordering Assam.

The Times described the fighting as having erupted into the worst head-hunting orgy in the recent history of the Naga headhunters.

According to custom, headhunters, in the Naga hills, use the heads of rivals and use the heads of personal trophies worn in garlands. The man with the largest number of heads is hailed as a clan champion.

He's A Little Bewildered

CHICAGO, Aug. 15 (AP)—Henry G. Olaszewski thought he was in the Navy when he was ducking those Communist bullets in the Korean war zone.

Now Olaszewski, 34, a little bewildered, is at the Great Lakes, (Ill.) Naval Training Station awaiting his official discharge. He was discharged, really, before all this came about.

This is his story:

Olaszewski became a machinist repairman, first class, in World War Two. He saw action at Okinawa and Saipan and then came home to his wife, Loretta, in Chicago. They now have a son, Joey, 17 months old.

After Olaszewski returned, he was attached to a naval reserve unit. Then, in 1950, he applied for his discharge.

On Oct. 9, 1950, however, he was ordered back to active duty. He inquired about his discharge,

Tornado Passes Over Akron, Canton Area

CANTON, Aug. 15 (Special)—The U.S. Weather Bureau at the Akron-Canton Airport reports a tornado probably passed over the Akron and Canton area this morning without damage.

A former Army meteorologist who observed it at close range said he clearly saw the characteristic whirling motion of the funnel-shaped cloud.

Scores heard the roaring as the cloud passed and some farmers said their horses and cattle were terrified and stampeded.

There were no reports that the twister had touched the ground.

Behind The News

By George Sokolsky

What Is This Invisible Government?
Mrs. Agnes M. Davis, corresponding secretary of the National Blue Star Mothers of America, writes me:
This all important question of invisible control in these United States must eventually be answered.
Shall it be answered by you, Mr. Sokolsky, or some more capable journalist?
What is this invisible control when Al Smith ran for president a vicious campaign was conducted against him on the assumption that the pope maintained an invisible control of the United States?
Bugs fought Al Smith as though he were not in every respect a better American than any one of his judges in 1932. Smith failed of the presidential nomination by his party in some extent because his bigotry continued to frighten local practical politicians.
NOW THE bigotry has been transferred to certain Jews who were closely associated with Franklin D. Roosevelt—Bernard Baruch, Felix Frankfurter, Sam Rosenberg, Anne Rosenberg and Henry Morgenthau.
The bigotry does not apply to the larger number and more influential Christians who were associated with Roosevelt. Why should one group and not the other be the invisible control? And should an individual be so afraid to live in a world of free elections? The people can elect anybody out of office.
There is only one way to deal with this problem, not of which men and women are earning a livelihood by building organizations, publishing newspapers, selling pictures. That way is complete publicity.
If these people have evidence that there is an invisible control of the government of the United States, an illegal, subversive control, they should put their evidence before the F.B.I., the House committee on American activities and the McCarran committee—let them face their choice—and let there be a thorough public investigation. Let us have all the facts.
These accusations are testified under oath as to what they know. For instance, Baruch is indisputably one of our ablest citizens who has served his country in a prolonged period.
When these fanciful persons are at back him by an American citizen, whose father was a surgeon in the Civil War and whose mother's family settled in this country in the 17th century, he expresses his opinion or votes his government, they are seeking to pursue in the United States the

Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

The Pfc Remains Confused
Dear Babe: As I write this letter, I have been shifted to a new job with the cease fire delegation. I am not keeping correct count of the goings and comings and it is tough. It has been two months of hit-and-run sessions with neither side staying long enough to register and give right names and addresses. It takes a fast mind like mine to tell when the delegations are a moving and when they are leaving. The other day we arrived and left at almost the same minute.
The Reds nearly busted up everything by putting troops past our knees in a meeting place, but they explained it was a mistake. I thought they would say the troops were volunteers and that it was a volunteer trade. But they said the first warning off the regular beat through the wire, the tanks or something. Admiral Fox was a right stand man in the armed forces for comings and goings beyond the cell of duty. He is a little too cramped a both ends like a football.
THESE ARE THE first cease fire meetings in history ever held in a meeting place. A new rule was put in effect. No more was considered closed. The first one got full in the first place. Only the head of the North Korean calls him a General. The second one is the second because the first one got full in the first place. It is time to stop swiping about saying free, a these in ethics and time to begin taking an it saving first.

School Case Out In Open

A critical division on the School Board is revealed to the public in the 3 to 2 vote to make Ralph W. Betts the new superintendent succeeding W. G. Fordyce who is leaving to go to Oak Ridge, Tenn.
The division has been present since Fordyce disclosed on July 23 that he had accepted the Oak Ridge position. Three weeks of discussion among the board members failed to change any minds regarding the Betts appointment.
The three man majority—O. E. Hall, Raymond Buzzard and Ed Curry—has been proceeding on the theory that Betts deserves a crack at the job after eight years in the local system under Martin Essex and Fordyce. Then if he failed to measure up, there would be time to shop farther afield.
The minority—A. Hoffman, a veteran who had more than 30 years in the local system, and James Bennett, who has close family connections on the faculty—have held out for an outsider. Their reasons stem mainly from the internal side of the school situation.
Both sides now will stand or fall on the actual performance of Betts, who takes on the job with the considerable handicap of two hostile members on the board and undoubted opposition in the staff as reflected by the two dissenting members.
The ultimate decision will be made, of course, by the public on next Nov. 8. Both Hall and Hoffman are up for re-election. They represent the two sides of the argument. Whichever one the public rejects will be the side which loses.
It is a tough way to settle the issue, but it appears to be the only road back to the kind of harmony a school board should and must have with one of the most crucial building programs in the schools history riding on the outcome of the same election. It would not be fair to anyone, especially the public, to rely over the breaking into that program in case the road is successful.

Do The Democrats Want Truman?

By David Lawrence
Wheeler or not President Truman wants to run for another term. The Democratic party leaders will want to consider whether he would be the strongest candidate they could name this time.
It is no secret that the Republicans would like to see Truman a candidate again because they think he would be a weak candidate.
The question as to whether the Democrats really strength was in 1948 from a party viewpoint plays a part in such decisions.
U. S. News & World Report has published a statistical analysis which shows that Truman ran far behind the Democratic ticket in enough states last time as to indicate that the Democratic party was much stronger than the presidential nominee.
THUS IN 38 states which accounted for 200 of Truman's 304 electoral votes, the President failed to lead the ticket. Congressional candidates ran away ahead of him in those states.
In Illinois, for example, Senator Douglas, a Democrat, carried the state by 408,000 while Truman carried it by only 34,000. Democratic candidates for the house of Representatives had a majority of 78,000 in Illinois. Adlai Stevenson carried the state for governor on the Democratic ticket by 372,000.
The same thing happened in Ohio where Truman squeaked through with only 71,077 while the Democratic governor won by 221,000 and the Democratic congressional candidates had an average of 132,000 more votes than the Republican candidates.
In 30 states with 388 electoral votes, Truman edged behind the congressional candidates of his party. In 18 states with only 143 electoral votes, including the 10 whose 101 electoral votes he did carry, Truman cut an local candidate.
So in summary, Truman may possibly not have carried enough states with sufficient electoral votes to make the requisite 267 except for the fact that he had behind him the strong candidates or the local tickets.
Often the straight ticket voters who are anxious to assist the election of their local candidates for state offices or for Congress will mark the entire ballot all one way.

Inside On Labor

By Victor Riesel
It is night over the docks. Only an occasional trucking truck is heard as the night luxury liner is held fast after its run from Italy and the Mediterranean.
A lone sailor sits in his room on the deck to his shoulder. He walks to a water-tight rendezvous. Apparently a seaman is about to flop for the night. Actually a $300,000 load of junk—drugs—comes its way to the school kids of the country.
Sometimes this weedhound or cocaine walks down the colored gangplank with a faded newspaper or a crumpled bond package.
But whatever the smuggling technique it is a raid of a seaman on the Italian-run syndicate in most of this nation's smuggling heroin. Rob Noser, crusading counsel to the Senate crime committee, tells me he is in New York putting the finishing touches on Senator O'Connor's probe which will find a crack in three weeks.
AND SINCE these smuggling seafarers are all union men, Noser called on the brazen and thoroughly brainy men who lead the AFL and CIO's clerics and those who unload the ships to help him plug the holes through which the dope seeps into our schools from Italy, Turkey and China.
They were eager to come. And sometime this week in Washington they talk about smuggling on the high seas. But it all won't go well for the government.
Once more it will be revealed that while one agency, the warship, T-men, chases the weedhounds and the couriers, other federal divisions, unthinking of perils, get the night and smugglers and even sex fiends back on board ship.
It will be big Joe Curran who will point the finger right back at the government. Curran's followers in the CIO National Maritime Union are on the Italian union. And there are a few amongst these sailors who run a package or wait until the swarming searching business men have long left the liners before taking their option-packed gear ashore.
Curran, testifying voluntarily, will reveal that the N.M.U.'s constitution calls for automatic expulsion of any man convicted of a narcotics charge—for selling, smuggling or sniffing. But Big Joe, in this strange, salty drawl, will ask in turn: How can the union keep the convicts out when those expelled are sent right back on board by the National Labor Relations Board operating on the theory that every man has a right to his job?
In Curran's files is the record of one such habitual offender who landed the union quelled in 1948. Two years later he was expelled and expelled from the N.M.U. for smuggling. Down to the N.L.R.B.

Mutts And Men

By Truman Twill
The Twiller talk had turned to dogs with the assistance of the two mutts which he had in the place.
The general drift of the chatter was about the dogs the inmates would like to have on hand if dog food were not a budget item.
There would be of course a lot of because collies are an excellent job of looking as if they belonged in front of fireplaces and where ever else they choose to be.
A boxer would make a desirable addition to the menagerie because it is always good for a laugh to see these ferocious appearing mutts surprise strangers with a display of inconspicuous amiability.
Dalmatians would get a free pass because anyone who has lived long enough to remember when these spotted beauties ran with the fire wagons has a soft place in his heart for them.
Room would be made for a pet.
THE ISSU E is really whether Truman is stronger today than he was in 1948 or whether the Democrats will be so much stronger just to make sure. The 1948 pollster however does show how many voters split their ticket in order to vote for the state and congressional nominees of the Democratic party but against Truman.
The obvious conclusion is that Truman was not stronger but much weaker than his party in 1948 throughout the country.
It is thought that his was due to the defections in the Senate. It is noted that the President ran behind his ticket in all the northern states and in two of the southern states, Nevada, Idaho, Washington, Wyoming, Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin, Kentucky and Massachusetts.
The northern states whose electoral votes he lost in 1948 were Maine, Vermont, New Hampshire, New Jersey, Connecticut, Maryland, New York, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Indiana, Michigan, Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota, North Dakota and Oregon.
But he ran behind his ticket also in the following northern states: Rhode Island, Ohio, Illinois, West Virginia, Missouri, Colorado, Utah, Montana, Arizona and New Mexico.

William Randolph Hearst

The many-sided career of William Randolph Hearst, who died Tuesday at the advanced age of 88, has been one of the favorite subjects of contention for years wherever newspapermen gather.
They could agree that he possessed unbounded energy, a dynamic personality, extreme business acumen, great courage and that he was an endless source of controversy because of his strong opinions. But they disagreed sharply about some of the ways he used his talents.
He developed in rivalry with men like the first Joseph Pulitzer the practice of mass circulation. He pioneered in the uses of topography and pictures for a quicker grasp of the news through visual presentation. His style was familiar to many in East Liverpool through the Pittsburgh Sun Telegraph, one of the hardest of the remaining Hearst newspapers.
He was unflinchingly active and articulate, a patriot according to his lights. At his death it is possible for all newspaper people to agree that no single personality of the last half century stimulated no fourth estate more than William Randolph Hearst.

Corn Festival

In some places, the climax of the sweet corn harvest is celebrated with festivals. In other places, there is a cornucopia of fast food, through August and continuing on into early September. That is the local style. Sweet Corn Sale is the only decoration required.
There is only one way to get the festivity out of sweet corn and that is in the cob. The corn must be fully cooked in two hands, the teeth must be firmly applied to the corn on the cob. No forks, knives or no-nutty smeared bits of butter and salt are allowed. That's something to celebrate.
Once again, the local is known to talk at this high and ready technique of gustation and in 20 years—even a pass up corn on the cob because the prices of getting it off is more than the value of the corn. Let them stand aside for the next few weeks. Better yet, they had better go to the next town, close the door and twist the corn knob on the radio. There is no way to eat corn and be quiet about it.

Russia Will Be There

Since Russia was invited to the Japanese peace treaty conference in San Francisco next month and has every right to be there, having gone to war against Japan in 1945, the decision to accept the invitation should be no surprise.
Yet, here is evidence that the United States has been taken by surprise. This looks like one more example of the lack of sure-handedness which makes it difficult for other governments to understand the American point of view in diplomacy.
Russia's nonbelligerence is one of the hard facts of these troubled times. It cannot be ignored. If anyone in the State Department believed the Soviet Union would not send a delegation to San Francisco or that a Japanese peace treaty could be made without the Soviet Union, that itself was evidence of unrealistic thinking about a most realistic matter.

Heavy Corn, Apple Loss Seen In Garbage

Want to know the condition of the East Liverpool district apple and sweetcorn crop? Ask the Incinerator Department!

The crops apparently aren't up to their usual standard—there is an unaccountably large volume of corn and apples in garbage, Superintendent James A. McKinnon said today.

One truck came in Tuesday with about four bushels of apples that some householder had discarded, he said. Another had many more bushels of sweet corn that had been unfit for the tables.

It's the beginning of the Summer garden and canning season, when the garbage men get their heaviest loads of the year. They find refuse cans jammed with corn husks, fruit parings, tomato scraps and all sorts of other heavy, wet stuff.

100 Miners Furloughed As Production Drops

WASHINGTON, Pa., Aug. 15 (AP)—Reduced production at the Montour No. 9 mine of the Pittsburgh Coal Co. has brought the furlough of 100 miners—half the working force.

The company said price competition between coal fields in western Pennsylvania and neighboring areas is causing the production drop. Output at the No. 9 mine has dropped to less than 1,000 tons a day.

Pen Riot Stirs 'Tough' Policy

Third Uprising Put Down In Utah Prison

Point-of-the-mountain, Utah, Aug. 15 (AP)—The third riot in as many months as Utah's new multi-million-dollar prison was put down without bloodshed yesterday.

And as it ended with the release of two prison officers who had been held hostage under threat of death, most of the day, embattled state officials announced a new and tougher era at the institution where 472 inmates are housed.

The state Board of Corrections ordered that all men be confined to their cells.

"Only those who have definite work assignments will be allowed to leave their quarters at any time—except on signed permission of the warden," the board statement said.

"We are going to run this prison the way the people want it run," added Acting Board Chairman Kingsley Clawson.

The board also announced that Weston E. Haslam—one of the two men held hostage for more than seven hours—will continue as acting warden with full authority.

The uprising ended when Joseph W. Dudley, state commissioner of public safety and superintendent of the Highway Patrol, conferred with the riot leaders.

The riot had brought 150 armed officers from over the state. Officials said 22 men were in the maximum security cell block taken over by the prisoners.

Among them were six "death row" inmates.

However, newsmen admitted to the cell block to hear prisoner grievances found 17 of the inmates locked in a corridor with the two hostages, while two ringleaders and several "assistants" controlled the cell block entrance and locks.

Dudley told the prisoners all in segregation would be returned to their regular cells and an investigation would be made of their grievances.

Weather Conditions Favorable

West Virginia's Crops Run Better-Than-Average

CHARLESTON W. Va. Aug. 15 (AP)—Favorable weather conditions about 1,178,000 bushels or a 4 per cent decline from the 1950 crop resulted in another better-than-average crop year, the Federal State Crop Reporting Service said today.

On that date, yields of all grains per acre were expected to exceed the 1949 average and wheat, except in the north and west, promised to be greater than last year.

Reduced acreages from previous years, however, lowered overall production figures for some grain crops. Here are some of the August estimates:

Oats—Yields of about 30 bushels per acre, an increase of 12.5 per cent over the 1949 crop of 1,568,000 bushels.

Barley and Rye—A production estimated at 312,000 and 26,000 bushels, respectively.

Buckwheat—An expected yield of 92,000 bushels, a decline of 8,000 bushels from 1949.

Peas—A yield of 115 bushels per acre, five bushels greater than in 1949, and 10 bushels above the 1949 average. Because of a decline in acreage, however, the total of 1,840,000 bushels to be harvested represents a decline of about 140,000 bushels from last year.

Tobacco—An expected production of 31,300,000 pounds, a gain of 301,000 pounds over 1949 and 15 per cent greater than the 1949 average.

Wheat—An estimated crop of 1,116,000 tons, 6 per cent larger than last year and 130,000 tons above the 1949 average.

Apples—An indicated yield of 4,060,000 bushels, compared with 4,260,000 bushels last year and 3,779,000 in 1949.

Peaches—A yield of 626,000 bushels, compared with 557,000 bushels in 1949 and a 1949 average of 539,000 bushels.

U.S. Forgets How To Dance, Band Leader Brown Claims

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 15 (AP)—The United States is forgetting how to dance, band leader Les Brown declares.

Brown made his observation in a discouraging when we go out and play a dance date with the band. We can draw a good crowd, but I am afraid when I look over the dance floor, I would estimate that 80 per cent of the dancers can't even keep time. I have to look hard to find a few dancers. Only about 10 per cent jitterbug any more and the rest don't.

Then I think of how it was back in 1936 when I first got out of school and started with my college band. I used to look out and see a whole floor of jitterbugs dancing with abandon. It was a gorgeous sight. Brown sees little hope for the current rhythmless generation unless some kind of dance revival takes place. The late 30s and the war years created the golden era of bands, he noted. That was because swing came in at the same time as jitterbugging, which fitted the new music perfectly. I can see no new dance on the horizon unless it is the Mambo, a South American combination of jitterbugging and the Mambo. I haven't seen it, but I am told it might have the same popular appeal as the jitterbug. The bandman cited other reasons for the decline of the music making business.

1—The inflation of musicians' salaries during the war years. Nearly every band had to break up or else cut salaries from 40 to 50 per cent. That meant reorganization with less able players. So the quality of the orchestras took a dive. 2—Bebop. One night Dizzy Gillespie became a hero with his weird music. This soured the general public or swing as a whole since they couldn't understand what bebop was all about. 3—Lack of originality. "Nobody came up with anything new. The only new bands were those which imitated Glenn Miller's style, but none of them could do it as well as Miller. Despite all the pessimism, Brown believes the band business will be picking up.

Non-Support Case To Be Checked

Municipal Judge George L. Brock Tuesday afternoon ordered a continuance until Thursday to a few attorneys to check the tangled web of status and financial affairs of a Canton non-support case.

The judge ordered a check on the testimony of Albert Coy charged with failure to live up to an agreement under which a 90-day jail term was suspended in May on the non-support charge.

Brought here from Canton last week, Coy has been before the judge three times without a decision. Court records show he agreed in May to pay half his wages at an Alliance steel company for support of his three minor children in custody of his former wife, Mrs. Mary Kinsey of East Liverpool.

He testified yesterday that his paychecks at the Alliance plant—except for one covering three days—were attached by the Municipal Court there. After quitting the job, he said he was ill for a time, then took a job at Canton. But he said he hasn't worked long enough in the new job to draw a pay.

Attorney Donald D. Shay, defense counsel, agreed to check Coy's status in Alliance and Canton. The charge on which he is alleged to have violated probation, said he had failed to support the children since 1948.

Work Starts On PA System At High School

$4,000 Installation By Student Council Will Link 3 Buildings

Installation has started on a $4,000 public address system connecting three buildings in East Liverpool High School.

The system will be supplied by the M. H. Martin Co. of Musillon and the John C. McCaughy Co. of East Liverpool holds the contract for construction of the control room.

The PA system will connect with a radio equipped with three channels permitting three radio programs to be presented at the same time in different rooms.

Sixty-five amplifiers will be placed in rooms in the High School Central and Memorial Auditorium Buildings. In addition to microphones in the control room, there will be one in the principal's office to use in making announcements by school officials.

The system is being funded through the efforts of the Student Council in a movement run here about three years ago. Several student organizations conducted campaigns and made contributions from time to time and all but about $700 has been raised.

The control and studio room will be on the balcony of the auditorium near the High School administrative offices. It is about 13 by 2 feet and will be soundproofed. It is of sufficient size to permit the presentation of student plays and programs. The cost of the control room will be contributed by the Board of Education from public funds.

The system will be ready for the opening of school although some equipment may not be installed until later. Operation of the system probably will be turned over to the Speech Arts Class with an operator on duty during school hours.

All modern schools particularly high schools have a PA system providing students with broadcasts such as the opening of Congress addresses by the President and prominent persons, and other entertainment of an educational nature carried on the radio almost daily.

School Vaccination Order May Be Lifted

Incoming first grade children may not be required to be vaccinated against smallpox and immunized against diphtheria before entering school in September.

Dr. Charles A. Gerace, city health commissioner, said that the Health Department advises that vaccination immunization be deferred during the season when polio is most likely to occur.

He said tests have shown that children submitting to immunization and vaccination are more susceptible to polio and recommended that the precautionary move be deferred until cooler weather here in September or October.

Schools are interdicted W. G. F.

once said he would recommend to the Board of Education Monday that enforcement of the order requiring vaccination and immunization be suspended until the Health Department gives the go ahead.

33 Of Cadets Leave 'Point'

10 More Cribbers Due To Go Today

WEST POINT, N. Y., Aug. 15 (AP)—Thirty-three of the 90 accused Military Academy cadets are civilians today, most of them slated for early dates with their draft boards unless they gain admittance to other colleges.

Their glum exodus from the academy marked the beginning of the greatest mass expulsion in the 150-year history of the "Point".

All 90 are accused of violating the West Point honor code by cheating on examinations.

Colonel James B. Leer, academy information officer, said yesterday that "almost all" of the departing 33 had resigned—rather than be waived out of the Army under administrative discharges.

The cadets who resigned left under administrative order, which implies neither an honorable nor a dishonorable discharge. They received 30-day emergency leaves. When the leaves expire, those not already registered for selective service must report to their local draft boards.

Each departing cadet was interviewed by Major General Frederick A. Irving, academy superintendent. Leer said Irving told each cadet "be above this and have a successful career".

At least 10 more of the accused cheaters will be fully processed to-day and take their "last walk" through the academy gates. The remainder of the 90 are expected to be gone by the end of the week.

The names of the accused cadets never have been made public, except when individuals identified themselves as part of the group.

Night or day, work or play, Repeaters will be fully processed to-day.

NEBRASKA'S CHOICE. An entry in the Miss America pageant at Atlantic City in September is 19-year-old Geraldine Eiseman of Omaha, Nebraska's choice to win the coveted title. Geraldine, who is 5-feet, 6-inches tall, will mark her birthday the night the winner is crowned.

Bulldozer Breaks Lisbon Water Main

LISBON, Aug. 15 (Special)—Water Department employees completed repairs of a broken 4-inch main Tuesday, restoring water service to residents of Locust Grove and Gander Flat in the East End.

They were without water since Monday afternoon when a bulldozer grading at Farmers Exchange near the Wellsville Bridge slipped into the creek, cracking the under water main.

President Rips 'Hatemongers'

McCarthy Challenges Truman After Hot Blast

WASHINGTON Aug. 15 (AP)—President Truman's blast at 'hatemongers' brought a challenge from Senator McCarthy (R) of Wisconsin today for a 1952 political showdown on his Communism in government charges.

Truman dedicated the new Washington headquarters of the American Legion yesterday with a punch-packed attack on those he said are trying to create fear and suspicion among us by the use of slander, unproved accusations and just plain lies.

Senator Benton (D) of Connecticut promptly nominated McCarthy as the object of the attack. Benton has proposed that the Senate formally consider ousting the Wisconsin senator.

McCarthy accepting the designation flung a challenge back at the President. He said:

If Truman wants to make the fight against communism—which he calls McCarthyism—an issue in the campaign, I will welcome it. It will give the people a chance to choose between Americanism or a combination of Trumanism and communism.

Senator Humphrey (D) of Minnesota said the President told him in advance he would make a rip-roaring speech. In his speech, Truman assailed people he said claim to be against communism but are chipping away at our basic freedoms just as insidiously and far more effectively than the Communists have ever been able to do.

Declaring that these people whom he did not name have attacked the basic principles of fair play, Truman said:

They are filling the air with the most irresponsible kinds of accusations against other people. They are trying to get us to believe that our government is riddled with communism and corruption—when the fact is that we have the finest and most loyal body of civil servants in the world.

Those 'hatemongers' are trying to get us so hysterical that no one will stand up to them for fear of being called a Communist.

Senator Taft (R) of Ohio mentioned as a possible Republican presidential candidate next year told a reporter he regards Truman as 'the hysterical one.'

He might point out, specifically, something that has been said about him that isn't true, Taft suggested.

Truman told the Legion audience that it was an old Communist trick in reverse to scare people into keeping silent about their rights and he added:

Yet this is exactly what the scaremongers and hatemongers are trying to bring about. Character assassination is their stock in trade. Guilt by association is their motto.

They have created such a wave of fear and uncertainty that their attacks upon our liberties go almost unchallenged. Many people are growing frightened—and frightened people don't protest.

Senator Capehart (R) of Indiana, an administration critic, said Truman isn't going to frighten him by the blasts in the Legion speech.

Dr. Waggoner Heads Kiwanis

Succeeds Fordyce In President Post

Dr. Charles Waggoner, vice-president, was elevated to the presidency of the Kiwanis Club at a Board of Directors meeting Tuesday night to replace W. G. Fordyce, who has submitted his resignation effective Aug. 23.

Fordyce, superintendent of schools, has been hired to head the Oak Ridge (Tenn.) school system.

A treacherous plot, Dr. Waggoner resides at 929 McKinnon Ave.

The board also nominated successors for the vice presidency and two posts on the board. They'll be voted on at the meeting Aug. 23.

Charles Schell was nominated for vice president, and Eugene Hall and Harold Allison for board members. The latter two will replace Schell and Joseph Prager, recently recalled to active duty with the Army.

The club will devote itself principally to business discussion at its weekly luncheon meeting Thursday at the Travelers Hotel. Tom Carroll, program chairman, has made tentative arrangements for a secure tape recordings of the East Liverpool High School Chorus Aug. 15 nationwide broadcast from Pittsburgh.

Old School Tie Kept Indians From Village

DERRY, N.H. (AP)—An old school tie kept the Indians out of this village in the days when they were being lured by the French in Canada to sack and plunder the English communities.

The first minister in Derry was Rev. James McGregor, a college classmate of the Marquis de Vaudreuil, French governor of Canada.

The two men maintained their friendship through correspondence for years. While other settlements were being burned and the inhabitants scattered, Derry escaped.

The marquis told the waiting Indians the Derry villagers were different from the rest of the English. He added a more telling argument, saying the villages' bounty would be paid for Derry's scalps.

Wilkins Designs Garb For Desert Warfare

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—The U.S. Air Force has assigned the famed Australian aviator and explorer, Sir Hubert Wilkins, to develop a camouflaged uniform for wear on the desert.

Sir Hubert, who is credited with perfecting a uniform for wear in polar regions, discussed possible desert styles with officials of the botanical gardens here.

He said his main problem was finding clothing which would blend with desert terrain and plant life. The uniform will be tested at the Yuma desert test station in southeastern Arizona by a specialist unit assigned to the base.

LISBON, Aug. 15—The village playground at Memorial Stadium will end an eight-week season today with races and field events for prizes. Miss Alice Armstrong, supervisor, said total attendance will be nearly 4,500 compared to 2,700 last year when activities were centered at McKinley School.

CINCINNATI Aug. 15 (AP)—The Cincinnati Police says it wants smarter rookies. The organization adopted a resolution urging that cities raise educational standards required of the police recruit to at least a high school graduate or the equivalent.

Complains Of Only Partial Report

Ferguson Again Holds Up Funds In Turnpike Survey

COLUMBUS Aug. 15 (AP)—State one but that the department's Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson again has held up payments to an engineering firm making surveys for toll turnpike across northern Ohio.

The first time Ferguson held up such payments, the Ohio Supreme Court ordered him to make them in a decision that held the turnpike act valid.

Today Ferguson refused to sign a $15,000 check for the fifth payment on traffic and revenue studies by the Parsons Brinckerhoff, Hill and MacDonald Engineering Co. of New York.

Ferguson said the state Highway Department sent him only a partial report on the engineering firm's work. The state auditor said he could not authorize payments on the basis of deleted and unused reports.

Ferguson said he wanted one of the 25 copies of the complete report submitted to the state as required by the firm's contract. He said the company was willing for the Highway Department to supply

The auditor's office said the New York firm has been paid $45,000 so far on its total contract for $70,000. The J. E. Greiner Co. of Baltimore has received the $267,500 total due for engineering studies.

Concerning reports by the New York firm, Ferguson wrote State Highway Director T. J. Kauer, a member of the Ohio Turnpike Commission.

Mr. Kauer has asked both the engineering firm and your office for one of the 25 copies of the report as filed by the engineers. The engineering firm's of the opinion that your office should submit the report to us. However, Charles P. Smith, your turnpike engineer and executive secretary, advised my examiner that you had decided that the partial report submitted by him is all that our office will receive.

Mr. Smith deleted substantial parts of the reports as filed by both the Greiner company and Parsons Brinckerhoff Hill and MacDonald before submitting them to our office. Greiner and company provided us with a complete copy of their report and their voucher was paid.

We are holding the voucher in question awaiting a reply from you as to whether or not you, as director of highways and secretary and treasurer of the Ohio Turnpike Commission, instructed your turnpike engineer and executive secretary to delete portions of the report filed with us and support him in his refusal to submit to us a copy of the complete report.

The letter did not mention a recent statement by Kauer that he felt revenue estimates for the turnpike were too conservative. But Ferguson's office called attention to the remark.

Kauer, Smith and James W. Snodgrass, turnpike commission chairman, were not available for comment. All three went to Wilmington, Del. for the dedication today of a 44 million dollar bridge over the Delaware River and to study New Jersey's nearly completed turnpike.

Snodgrass said the eastern turnpike will bear an economic and transportation relationship to the Ohio Turnpike when completed.

The Ohio Turnpike is designed to join a westward extension of the Pennsylvania Turnpike south of Youngstown and cross the state south of Cleveland and Toledo to the border of Indiana.

That state is considering a turnpike that would complete a limited access route between the East and the approaches to Chicago.

Home Canning Hints Given To Prevent Food Poisoning

As the annual home canning season starts, a reminder of the hazards of health involved in carelessly canned foods was issued by Harry S. Workman, senior sanitarian with the Hancock County Health Department.

He listed these points:

Cleanliness. The work area should be clean. Produce should be washed under running water if possible and stored in clean containers.

Use of clean fruit and produce and can it quickly. It must be held over the heat and well ventilated. Handle produce gently to avoid bruising and do not use spotted fruits or vegetables. Don't let food soak in cold water.

Make sure your canning methods for fruits and vegetables heats them enough to destroy the poisonous organism, such as moulds, yeast and bacteria.

For fruits, tomatoes and pickled vegetables, use a boiling water bath. For corn beans and other common vegetables, use a steam pressure canner. To process these foods in a reasonable time takes a temperature higher than that of boiling water.

Allow the jars or tins to cool overnight. Test of leakage by turning jar over in your hand. If a leaky container, found use the food right away or can it again.

Proper storage also is important. Store in a cool dry spot. Warmth may cause canned foods to lose quality while freezing may cause the jar to crack or a seal to break letting in bacteria. Dampness may corrode tin cans or metal lids of glass jars eventually causing leakage.

Workman emphasized the danger of a serious food poisoning known as botulism. It may present in home canned foods without causing evidence of spoilage or change of color.

Never he warned taste home canned meats or vegetables without first boiling at least 10 minutes. Spinach and corn should be boiled 20 minutes.

Township Officials To Put On Cornbake

An estimated 125 members of the Columbiana County Association of Township Trustees and Clerks and families are expected to attend their annual cornbake and steak dinner Aug. 21 at 6:30 p. m. in the Grace Evangelical and Reformed Church, Columbiana.

Movies of his trip around the world a year or two ago will be shown by Sam Keener, Salem business engineer, following dinner. Wilbur Stratton of Salem is chairman of the event.

Dry Spell Hits Corn Crops In Central Ohio

Hot Weather Also Brings Horseflies To Pester Livestock

COLUMBUS Aug. 15 (AP)—Ohio's long dry spell is threatening corn crops in the Central and Miami Valley areas.

The hot dry weather also has brought a horde of horseflies in the Miami Valley, pestering livestock in such heavy numbers that milk production is down.

Weight gains of cattle and hogs have been adversely affected by the insects.

Marion Esterline, farm writer for the Dayton Journal Herald, reports he has seen flies so thick in the last few days they almost cover livestock.

In Franklin county, an agricultural expert says unless there is a substantial downpour within the next 10 days at least 20 per cent of the corn crop may be ruined and the rest stunted in growth.

In Mercer and Darke counties the heart of the corn belt farmers report corn stalks are beginning to snap near the ground because of dryness.

John Vermilya, Montgomery county 4-H leader, said every day without rain we lose another bushel of corn per acre.

Corn in the Dayton area has begun to "fire" or dry up. Damage is spotty in the Miami Valley area. But farmers agree rain is needed within the next few days or the entire corn crop will be "fired."

The Columbus Weather Bureau said last month was one of the four driest Julys in Franklin county's history. This month's average rain fall has dipped even lower.

Last month's 87 of an inch average was 2.68 inches below normal. For Aug. 113, Weather Bureau figures show average rainfall of only 28 of an inch or 1.24 inches below normal.

Dr. J. I. Faconer, head of the Department of Agricultural Economics at Ohio State University, says about 10 per cent of Franklin county's corn crop probably has been destroyed already by the lack of rain. The crop averages 51 bushels an acre.

Unfortunately, there is little that corn farmers can do about it except hope for rain. He added "Vegetable farmers can sprinkle their crops to some extent but not corn farmers."

18,200 Acres Set As County Wheat Goal

COLUMBIA Aug. 15 (Special)—Columbiana County's goal for the 1952 wheat harvest is 18,200 acres, according to Clifford F. Shaw, chairman of the Agricultural Mobilization Committee.

That figure is in line with the state goal of 2,000,000 acres and a national goal of 78,850,000 acres—slightly higher than was seeded in the fall of 1950 for this year's harvest.

Shaw said farmers should keep the goal in mind when seeding this fall and next spring because no individual farm goals will be established.

Government experts consider the goal large enough to fill all known requirements for food feed export and a safe reserve for emergencies.

Freshmen To Wear Arm Band For Week

In keeping with a custom sponsored by the Student Council for the past few years, freshmen in East Liverpool High School will wear arm bands the first week of school.

The arm band for identifying freshmen was adopted when hazing of incoming students threatened to grow out of control. The Student Council stepped in and outlawed hazing.

The blue bands with letters E L H S will be sold at the High School for 35 cents beginning Friday. Students registering for business passes may purchase the bands at the principal's office on the second floor.

How To Cope With Copelessness

I celebrated National Vegetable Week much too strenuously and have been put on a strict diet—nothing but whisk and water and panel shows.

Nothing like a panel show to cut down your vitamin intake.

It was Joan Royal the elder sage of NBC who some years back declared that television was in the I think stage.

A lot of people sat around a microphone and thought deeply about say high prices or should a girl kiss a man on the first time out. Then they emitted opinions. It wasn't the mundanity it was the derisive of these answers which made life uncomfortable in those days.

Well the panel show has come a long way since then. The panel members don't think at all. The answers are carefully rehearsed and seem at times to have been written by someone else. And a man can relax and perhaps even chuckle during a panel show without feeling that he is missing any profound thoughts on animal husbandry.

PANEL SHOWS have even acquired enough renown to attract a show devoted specifically to satirizing them. There is no higher compliment.

The program is How To which you'll find on CBS-TV at 9 p.m. or Tuesday a Hollywood operation that arrives here by kinescope. It is the TV equivalent of I Pay To Be Ignorant the first and still the most successful satire on all quiz programs. And while it hasn't the ripe patina of the older show it is on the right track.

How To is presided over by Roger Price, a former script writer for Bob Hope and the author—so help me Hannah—of a book called In One Word and Out the Other. That ought to give you some idea of what goes on on How To.

Price has the chin and many of the mannerisms of Bob Hope, a pair of spectacles without which no new comic on TV is complete and a face that will remind you strongly of the Piccard brothers who used to go up in balloons and down in bathyspheres.

His humor is a composite of all those things from Hope to the bathysphere.

This show has been on the air for only a month, he'll tell you, and already it has attracted thousands of enemies. Here's a letter from a reader. I've been following you health hints and they have made a real man out of me. I'm using you for $100,000 because six months ago I was a girl.

The panel members include Anita Martell (Mrs. Price) and a couple of other Hollywoodites Huntz Hall and Leonard Stern and the r task—to quote directly from Price—is to help people with an inability to cope with life—or copelessness.

The problems they cope with are as inconsequential or just plain silly as possible. How to snare a husband for example. Keep your gowns low and your standards high advised Mrs. Martell. Price agreed with her 50 per cent.

ONE MAN wanted to know how to handle a wife who wanted to go to the seashore when he pined for the mountains—a problem that I thought had expired in the comic strips.

Play along with your wife, said Mr. Stern or Mr. Hall or somebody. Take her to the sea shore and play games with her. Bury her in the sand and when you come back from the mountains—dig her up.

Argue with her about the advantages of Mother Nature, advised someone else. Then she'll go home to Mother and you can go to rature.

These remarks are about as ad lib as a presidential address and in some cases no sillier.

Price interrupts the gags from time to time to draw lightning and very funny sketches a haot he picked up on the night club circuit. And at the end he plunges into the wilderness with gun and microphone to ask questions of the audience.

How can I get my moll or in law to leave home? —Divorce your wife —now can I keep my friend from spending too much money on me —Marry him.

Well those answers are at least as thoughtful as some of those I've heard on Meet The Press or Leave It To The Gals. When you come right down to it it's pretty hard to satirize a panel show. They satirize themselves pretty well.

West Virginian Claims State Sold Land Under Water

GRAFTON, W. Va., Aug. 15 (P).—Remember the Florida land boom of the late 1920's?

Well, here's a fellow who claims the sovereign state of West Virginia sold him a piece of property nestled under 70 feet of water.

A Coffman of Crafton, a retired Baltimore & Ohio Railroad conductor, said he bought the tract of land for $60.75 at a tax sale.

Some time later Coffman related he found that his property was inundated by the waters of Tygart's Dam to a depth of 70 feet.

Coffman complained to State Auditor Edgar B. Sims, who also is state commissioner of forfeited and delinquent lands.

Sims replied in effect that the burden was on the purchaser to determine the worth of what he had bought at a tax sale.

It is the duty of the purchaser to have his title examined immediately after acquisition of any property which he was successful in clearing at a tax sale and in the event it is found to be worthless make application for refund of the money paid prior to confirmation.

However, if the purchaser delays until the deed is made and sale confirmed by the Circuit Court, no refund is granted by the statutes and the purchaser is am sorry to advise has expended his money for nothing.

Bare floors look cool in Summer but only if kept clean. To pick up dust go on each floor daily with a mop using almost dry from warm soapsuds.

The Mesabi Range

Most Valuable Metal? Iron, Of Course!

BY HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer
HIBBING, Minn., Aug. 15—What is the world's most valuable metal?

A merchant might say, "Gold!" That word has never lost its lure. A scientist, thinking of new experiments in the atom bomb, might say, "Uranium."

But in terms of everybody living that old servant—iron. You have to eat iron to live. And iron is the muscle of steel, the framework of all great modern civilizations in war and in peace.

A nation without iron today is a nation without muscle. Americans skyscrapers, put snows in swords use more iron than any other people. Yet they know as much about Range America could hardly have it as the average Chinaman does fought and won two great world wars so handily or arm itself so

Here are a few facts and figures about iron you can paste up for a quiz test:

SOME 26 per cent of all the iron produced in the United States comes from the Mesabi Range here. It is in a great pocket of glacial drift about 100 miles long and up to seven miles wide.

Mesabi, also spelled Mesaba and Missabe, comes from a Chippewa Indian term meaning giants, who—legend says—once inhabited the region. The word "range" means "district", so the Mesabi Range is "the district of the giants".

Iron is a giant that has poured its strength into plowshares and nation without muscle. Americans skyscrapers, put snows in swords use more iron than any other people. Yet they know as much about Range America could hardly have it as the average Chinaman does fought and won two great world wars so handily or arm itself so well for a possible third one. Iron used to be clawed by picks in underground tunnels, but now huge shovels that do the work of scores of men strip off the covering soil surface, then scoop up five cubic feet of heavy ore as if it were so much ice cream. The shovels work down almost to the 500-foot level, creating great valleys of rust.

One mining company in the Hull-Rust-Mahoning pit, the world's largest, has 55 miles of railroad track within this single vast hole. Ore also is trundled to the surface in 22-ton trucks and by a conveyor belt 40 stories tall.

Most visitors think the redder the earth the richer the ore content. It isn't so. The richest ore is blue-black, and crumbly. Red rock, bearing low-grade ore, is called "paint rock" by the miners. A cleaning-up operation, in which ore pockets are washed out by hydraulic pressure, is called "a scam job."

House Search Warrant Set

New Anti-Gambling Law Begins Thursday

COLUMBUS, Aug. 15 (AP)— The state will get a new anti-gambling, governor to bring removal proceedings against a sheriff, county judge to issue search warrants goes into effect.

The four other anti-gambling laws and their effective dates are: Aug. 21—Amendments to the law providing for removal actions against public officers to allow the governor to bring removal proceedings against a sheriff, county judge to issue search warrants goes into effect.

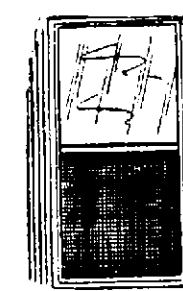

The warrants may be issued to search a house or place within the jurisdiction for gambling equipment, stolen property, weapons or tools used in a crime, illegal gambling spots as a common nuisance.

The law is one of five anti-gambling measures passed by the recent legislature. The others will go into effect later this month and next.

THE LAMP IN THE WINDOW

Symbolic of the earlier days of American pharmacy was the lighted lamp in the drug-store window. Through the darkness of the night it glowed, a beacon of hope, a sign of unselfish service. It identified the drug store as a haven of refuge, was the promise of relief and comfort to the sick and afflicted. We, here feel the responsibilities of the pharmacist for the health and welfare of the community are greater today.

IRON ORE is sorted into 22 grades before it is trundled to Duluth in mile-long trains of 180 cars. Each modern car now can carry 70 tons. Nobody has ever been known to steal a loaded ore car. "He wouldn't find it easy to peddle," a rail official said. That's one of the nice things about the business.

The ore goes from the Duluth-Superior docks to the nation's smelters via the Great Lakes.

What about the future, when the high-grade ore is exhausted?

One answer is taconite, or low-grade ore. There are millions of tons of it. One company is spending more than 23 million dollars in research on ways to utilize it commercially. A pilot plant now is powdering taconite rock, separating the iron particles magnetically and molding them into "iron eggs" richer than the best natural ore deposits. The process is called "beneficiation" and shows even the iron industry has its brand of gobbledygook.

Another answer to America's coming iron shortage lies in the discovery of new ranges.

Lausche Warns Foley May Go If He Accepted Ring

COLUMBUS, Aug. 15 (AP)— If the state registrar of motor vehicles accepted a diamond ring from his employees, he may have to resign.

That was the word from Governor Frank J. Lausche yesterday. He ordered an investigation into reports that Registrar Robert M. Foley accepted a ring from employees who chipped in their first increases from a recent pay increase.

Conflicting reports circulated around the statehouse. Some said the ring cost $1,000. Others valued it at $400.

Some reports said the employees gave Foley the ring because they believed he got pay adjustments for them. Others reported they gave him the ring because they were proud of him "for coming up here from the ranks."

Highway Director T. J. Kauer said he understood Foley returned the ring. Kauer is Foley's immediate boss.

Foley is vacationing in Canada, and could not be reached for comment.

Lausche told newsmen: "If investigation shows that Foley received the ring and gave it back, that may not be enough, he may have to resign."

Kauer began his investigation by calling A. W. Mininni, the motor vehicle bureau's personnel chief, and acting head in Foley's absence.

Mininni said he understood 12 to 15 traveling auditors in the bureau decided last March to buy Foley a ring "to show how proud they are of him for coming up from the ranks."

The 46-year-old Foley has served as a traveling auditor. He was appointed registrar March 1, 1950.

'Hands Off' Policy
Most Colleges 'Wary' Of Ousted Cadet Stars

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (AP)—Most of the nation's colleges have no strict rules that would prevent them from admitting West Point's ousted football players but many of them today assumed a wary "hands off" policy.

This was particularly true in the conservative Ivy League and in the not-so-conservative Dixie belt, where open grid scholarships long have been advocated.

Army cadets, facing dismissal for violation of the Military Academy's honor code, said they were getting a "cold shoulder" in the East.

The University of Virginia, to which a number of the Army graders were pointing, announced that a student "suspended or dropped" from another college will not be admitted.

The Southeastern Conference, home of such powerhouses as Kentucky, Tennessee and Alabama, has a normal year's residence rule but Sports Editor Zipp Newman of the Birmingham News wrote:

"It's firmly believed that none of the West Point players will ever play for Southeastern Conference teams. Most of the college presidents are against it. Most of the athletic directors are against coaches bringing in some of the Army players with a year or two eligibility left."

"It would be a terrific indictment against the SEC if it went after the players dismissed from West Point. It would be hard to convince many that the players weren't getting something extra."

Only the Southwest Conference is bound by rules not to let transfers play football. An upper classman with previous varsity grid experience is automatically ineligible to continue his football career.

The other conferences have a year's residence rule, meaning a transfer must be in school a year before he can go out for the team. Members of these conferences, however, pass on admissions individually.

Bert Bell, commissioner of the National Football League, said the players would not be eligible for pro teams until their class graduates. In some cases this would be two years. Only Fullback Al Polard would qualify in this respect.

Notre Dame has a policy but no rigid rule against accepting transfers. The West Point cases would have to be reviewed by authorities.

Kenneth (Tug) Wilson, commissioner of the Western Conference, said the matter would be left to individual schools. Some Big Ten members are reported looking favorably on accepting the Army athletes.

Tribe Seeks To Equal Its Streak Of 13

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 15 (AP)—Because Catcher Jim Hegan's 190 pounds make a sturdy roadblock, the Cleveland Indians come to Sportsmen's Park tonight with a chance to equal the longest Tribe winning streak in a decade—a 13-in-a-row mark posted in 1942.

"Could have used a traffic cop out there," the big catcher commented yesterday after the front-running Tribe won its 15th tilt in 16 starts against Detroit, 6-5.

"That bump by Wertz wasn't bad, but Evers gave me the full treatment. I felt knees, elbows and shoulders," he added.

Apparently determined to stop being a Cleveland doormat, the Tigers went all out before losing.

Three times Bengals went roaring in from third standing up and three times Hegan was belted to the dirt. Once he was knocked out by Hoot Evers. But only one of the three Detroit runners scored—and then it was a bad throw by Al Rosen that let Vic Wertz across.

Despite the jarring, Hegan had a game-winning single left for the bottom of the 10th. It was his third blow in five trips and boosted his average to .259, up 20 points from last year at this time.

This looks like Hegan's best year and it may be because he's getting an occasional rest now that the Tribe has Birdie Tebbets. Before, Tribe managers were loathe to give the big Irishman a rest, even when he was shaken up. He usually worked both ends of a double-header. In 1949, for example, Lou Boudreau used him in 152 games.

Rarely do Cleveland pitchers shake off a signal from Hegan, whom they call "Shanty." Last month when Bob Feller pitched his third no-hit game, he did not refuse even one Hegan sign.

Another time this season Early Wynn shook Hegan off and then saw his own choice pitch smacked over the fence. "I'll think twice before I shake off another of his calls," Wynn declared.

In addition to his capable handling of the hurlers and the effective way he guards home plate, Hegan has a fine throwing arm and is quick and sure of foul tips and pops or bad pitches. He is generally regarded as the league's best defensive backstop.

Hegan has caught two other no-hitters besides Feller's, the ones pitched by Don Black in 1947 and Bob Lemon in 1948.

Detroit's loss ran Cleveland string of consecutive victories to 12, one less than the Tribe record in 1942. The win meant the Indians need only a split in the two-game series here to make it 40 wins in 50 games—an even 800 percentage from June 26.

Ray Boone hit his ninth homer after Rosen had singled in the second for the first Cleveland runs. Simpson's fourth round-tripper came in the fourth. It was Cleveland 101st homer this year, compared to 129 at the same date last year.

Flyouts by Dale Mitchell and Rosen scored the other two Tribe runs in the seventh and eighth. Mitchell's brought in Hegan, who had singled. Rosen's tailed Larry Doby, who also had singled.

Homers by Dick Kryhoski in the third and Wertz in the fourth brought in the first Detroit runs, but the Tiger's biggest inning was the sixth when they crossed the plate three times and sent Pitcher Bob Lemon to the showers. Gerald Priddy doubled then after Pat Malin. Evers and Freddy Hutchinson had singled.

Mitchell singled off Gene Bearden in the 8th to run his string of games with safe hits to 22.

Tigers Hutchinson and Don Kilgus were tossed out of the game by Umpire Ed Hurley for disputing his decisions on the ball and strike situation.

Tonight Cleveland will send out Early Wynn to pitch against the Browns' Ned Garver. Wynn has a 12-11 record. He beat the Browns twice and lost to them once. Garver, who has a 14-6 mark, has downed the Indians twice.

The playoffs will open tonight in the best of three-game series with the Florists meeting Lisbon there and Salem playing at Negley. The same teams will meet Friday night but will switch fields.

If necessary, the third game will be played Wednesday.

In the game last night, Negley had scored a run in the 12th inning when the game was played July 1 but the Florists protested on a disputed play and league officials ordered the replay.

The championship series will open the final week of August.

When action resumed Negley was at bat in the 12th but they failed to score this time.

But they did rail the triumph in the 14th when Norton doubled and came home on Evans' single to center field.

League officials said the County All-Stars will play the East Palestine Independents Sunday afternoon in a game postponed from July 22. The game will follow an East Palestine-Sharon tilt.

Playoffs Won By Lutherans

St. John's Lutherans captured the Church Softball League playoff championship in two straight games as they defeated Second Christians, 4-1, Tuesday night at the Y-Vodrey Lot.

They had defeated the Christians, 11-1, in the first of the scheduled three-game series Monday night.

The Lutherans also won the regular championship. Clendinning allowed the Christians three hits, one in the first frame and two in the seventh when the losers scored their lone tally. He fanned four.

The champs scored single tallies in the second and fourth and came up with two markers in the fifth. They collected 11 hits off Bryson.

Green with three hits and Cunningham and N. Schneidmiller each with two hits led the Lutherans' attack.

White Wins JC Golf Medal

DURHAM, N. C., Aug. 15 (AP)—Teddy White had to learn practically a new game of golf when he came to the National Junior Chamber of Commerce Tournament, but learn it he did and he learned it well.

The long, lean high school kid from Roswell, N. M., won the Jaycee medal with 73-76-140 yesterday even though:

1.—He played on Bermuda grass, greens while he's accustomed to New Mexico's bent grass and sand greens;

2.—He played on Hope Valley, course's tree-lined fairways while he usually plays on the wide open spaces of the far West; and

3.—He played in the rain on a soggy course while he's far more accustomed to the dry, thin air of his homeland.

The 6-foot, 1-inch, 155-pounder took three strokes from par with his 35-32 in the final qualifying round for some of the best shooting of this big golfing get-together.

His opponent today in the first round of match play was John Gehret of Wilmington, Del., a 154 qualifier.

Two strokes back of the 18-year-old New Mexican were Johnny Johnson of Oklahoma City, Okla., and Eddie Merrins of Meridian, Miss., defending champion who still ranks the favorite despite Teddy's solid shooting. Johnson matched 67's with White and Merrins got a 69.

Two rounds of match play will be held today, two more tomorrow, two Friday and the 36-hole championship finals come off Saturday.

Ohio scores:

Cliff Rhein, Cincinnati, 75-82—157.

Pat Schwab, Dayton, 74-71—145.

Bob Denning, Dayton, 73-74—147.

Frank Card, Columbus, 81-72—153.

Ted Leach, Circleville, 81-78—160.

H. B. M. Pierson, Caldwell, 85-84—169.

George Frankenfeld, Dayton, 80-77—157.

Ronnie Bell, Lima, 78-79—157.

To Honor Garver

DEFIANCE, O., Aug. 15 (AP)—Sunday, Oct. 14, will be "Ned Garver Day" in Defiance. The star of St. Louis Browns pitcher is a native of Ney, a Defiance county village, and the Defiance Chamber of Commerce has decided to celebrate Garver's amazing pitching record with a second-division team. Among the events planned is dedication of Raut Field, a diamond lighted for night baseball.

In the eighth, R. Laneve singled, and on an attempted sacrifice by J. Laneve the ball was hit in the air and Allen grabbed it and tossed to first for a double play. Dick Dunlevy then batted for Wheatley and clouted a triple to deep right field but he was left stranded as Frank Gibas hit back to Allen.

In the fifth, the Irish loaded the bases but failed to score.

Yanks, Chisox Pilots To Tell Of Disputed Game

CHICAGO, Aug. 15 (UPI)—President Will Harridge of the American League has asked Managers Casey Stengel of the Yankees and Paul Richards of the White Sox to tell him what happened during the disputed July 27 game between their teams.

That was the game at Yankee Stadium, New York, in which the White Sox rallied from behind a 3-1 deficit to score three runs in the eighth inning. But the game was called on account of rain without the inning being finished and the Yanks won as the score reverted to the previous inning.

Richards protested bitterly, charging that Stengel, deliberately stalled until the game was called.

Harridge said he has requested the two managers to be in his office Aug. 27, along with the four umpires who worked the game.

Phils Option Miller, Acquire Young Lefty

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 15 (INS)—The Philadelphia Phillies have released right-hander Bob Miller on option to Wilmington of the Interstate League.

Simultaneously, Niles Jordan, 21, a lefty with a 21-5 mark at Wilmington, was ordered to report to the Phillies in Boston today.

Jordan, a curve ball specialist, has yielded 157 hits, 53 walks and has struck out 158 in 159 innings with Wilmington.

Miller, who was 11-6 with the Phillies last year, has won two this season and dropped one.

Louis 4-1 Favorite Over Bivins Tonight

BALTIMORE, Aug. 15 (AP)—There was so much interest in Joe Louis and Jimmy Bivins getting weighed this morning you'd think they were going to have a beauty instead of a boxing contest tonight.

What they'll weigh for the 10-round go in Baltimore Stadium (10:30 p.m. East Liverpool time) has become for one reason or another a factor in the pre-fight speculation.

For one thing, both camps have been extraordinarily shy about telling exact weights.

At the Louis camp, they've been worrying a little that the 37-year-old former heavyweight champ might be too light—all things. It wasn't too long ago after the Brown Bomber gave up his crown and started this comeback everybody wondered when he'd stop putting on pounds.

Now they hope Louis will make 210. The best advance report from Marshall Miles, his manager, was that he went "207 or 208", the weight at which he whipped his last opponent, Cesar Brion.

Whatever Louis weighs, he's going to have a terrific bulge on Bivins.

The Cleveland also would like to be heavier—a lot.

He came here to train last week at only 176 and unless he's put it on fast in the last 24 hours he'll be lucky to push the scales beyond that this morning.

Despite the weight spread, plenty of people hereabouts figure Bivins is going to give Louis a stiff fight.

The 31-year-old Bivins has waited 11 years and exactly 100 fights to get in the ring with Louis except for an exhibition.

The betting is 4-1 on Louis.

Darkness Halts Tilt; Play Again Thursday

Irishtown and Homer Laughlins battled to a 3-all deadlock in eight innings Tuesday night in the second of the scheduled seven-game series for the City League's Shaughnessy playoff championship.

The Irish took a 3-2 lead in the top of the seventh only to have Laughlins come back in their half of the inning to knot the count and send the game into extra innings.

Laughlins, who had taken the first game Monday night, 6-0, threatened in the eighth inning but failed to score and umpires called the game because of darkness.

The teams will be idle tonight but the series will resume Thursday night at Patterson Field.

Thurm Allen, who scored two of the Irish's runs and batted in the other, and Jack Wheatley both gave up eight hits. But errors in the first and fourth innings proved tough for Allen.

Allen struck out five and did not issue a walk.

The Irish scored first as Allen opened the game with a double and scored on two ground outs.

The Newell nine came back in the same frame to knot the score when with two out Leroy Rardin singled. Bob Mellett worked Allen for a free pass.

Rardin attempted to steal third and when a wild throw by Manager Bob Campbell got past the third baseman, he scored.

In the third, the Irish took the lead once more as Berkheimer walked and stole second. Allen then lashed a single to plate his mate.

Laughlins came back in the fourth with a tally as Ron Stephens was safe at first on an error by Berkheimer. Del Jividen forced Stephens at second but Ron Laneve followed with a single to advance the runner. Jividen scored when John Laneve singled.

Allen took matters in his own hand in the seventh in an attempt to win his own ball game when he tripled and scored on a long fly by Lloyd Foster.

But Newell came back in the last half of the inning to deadlock the contest.

Jack Durham doubled and went to third on a single by Rardin. Durham scored as Mellett laid down a squeeze bunt.

Both teams had opportunities to score but failed to take advantage of the situations.

In the eighth, R. Laneve singled, and on an attempted sacrifice by J. Laneve the ball was hit in the air and Allen grabbed it and tossed to first for a double play. Dick Dunlevy then batted for Wheatley and clouted a triple to deep right field but he was left stranded as Frank Gibas hit back to Allen.

In the fifth, the Irish loaded the bases but failed to score.

THE WORLD is one big shopping counter to these future stewardesses, who are receiving instruction in global geography. The school is located in a hangar so the girls can become familiar with planes.

GIRLS WITH A FAR-AWAY LOOK

WHAT WOMAN wouldn't relish the opportunity to go on shopping sprees along the world's buy-ways—and at cut-rate prices? Imagine purchasing perfumes and frocks in Paris, woollens and fine china in England, liners in Ireland, alligator handbags in South America, lace in Belgium, slippers in Lebanon, cotton prints on the African Gold Coast and silks in Japan. It's possible if the shopper is a stewardess.

The lure of shopping in lands beyond the horizon is admittedly one of the attractions for girls seeking to become hostesses on planes which travel to far-away bazaars. Because of expanded operations, Pan American World Airways has enlarged its school for stewardesses.

The qualifications are high, but so are the number of applicants. For each day the selected ones can look out of their classroom window at LaGuardia Field, N. Y., and see giant luxury planes leaving for distant bargain counters.

SURVIVAL training finds Peggy Bensen learning how to send up a kite from the 20-person life raft carried on all over-water planes.

STEWARDESSES must be ready for anything, even feeding baby when mama is indisposed. Nurse Eva Muzar shows Jackie Loubier how.

FLIGHT SAFETY instructor Pierre De Remer shows a trainee how to extinguish a blaze aboard a plane in flight. The girls are taught that quick action almost always will relieve the danger and a calm attitude usually will allay passengers' fears.

ALL STUDENTS must qualify for a Red Cross first aid certificate before becoming stewardesses. They must learn to give artificial respiration in the limited confines of a plane, as shown above, and to provide all types of emergency aid.

Farmers Receive Tips On Use Of By-products

WASHINGTON (UP)—The American housewife soon may be buying a crop in 1949 was 31,000,000 bales weighed 7,500,000 net tons and spun her husband a shirt made from 19,000,000 peanuts, cottage cheese, corn kernels and feathers.

She also may be lathering apple honey, fats and oils, sugar, enzymes, hogs, peanuts and many other farm crops and their by-products.

Each of the 150 chapters is intended to prove the premise that "come what may, it is wise to give attention to the better use of the products of the soil."

The centers were set up by Congress in the depression years to study new uses and possibly create new industries for farm surpluses.

War-time emergencies accelerated the studies and the new edition devotes its 968 pages to the many scientific strides in research on the farmer's products after they leave his gate.

The editor, Alfred Stefferd, explained that where other yearbooks have told the farmer how to produce two blades of grass where only one grew before, the current volume deals with that second blade.

Divided into 19 sections, it contains 145 articles by department experts. They tell how and why research on farm products got started, what has been done so far, what is being done and what may be done tomorrow.

Through the book, the real on-farm expert can discover ways to obtain pure-culture mushroom mycelium, study new methods of processing flaxseed, or the different treatments now in use for changing the crystallinity of cotton.

Stefferd, however, has in no way limited the edition to purely scientific information for the interested layman.

Stolen Bell Clapper

Plagues Penn Provost

LANCASTER, Pa. (UP)—Dr. Paul H. Musser, provost of the University of Pennsylvania, doesn't attend reunions with his old class of '16 from Franklin and Marshall College.

The stories they tell can be embarrassing, such as the one about how Musser helped steal the clapper from the main bell at F. & M. in 1913.

The clapper disappeared one Saturday night in the Spring. It didn't ring to wake the students for chapel the next morning. In fact, things were confused on the campus for about two weeks.

For some 30 years the clapper was hidden in a fraternity house. A member of the '16 class finally took it home with him and at a recent reunion the clapper occupied the center of the table. The story about Musser taking it went the rounds.

The U. of P. provost admitted the next day that he "remembers" the incident.

Musser also admitted he didn't know what he'd do if a young sophomore was brought before him for swiping a bell clapper at Penn.

'City' On Aleutians

Ready To Call It Quits

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (UP)—The boom is over and 65 of the 175 residents of Unalaska think the city's days should be numbered, too.

A petition for "disincorporation" of the Aleutian Island community was signed by 65 residents, approved by the City Council and filed in Federal Court here.

Walter Dykanoft, who circulated the petition, said Unalaska's population is not large enough to function as a first-class city.

He also said the city was incorporated under war boom conditions and "none of these conditions exists today."

HUDSON, Mass. (UP)—Margaret Sheehan never went to high school but she was graduated with the highest honors in the Class of 1951. Confined to her home with a back ailment for several years, Miss Sheehan topped the graduating class by home study and was given her diploma at special ceremonies in her own house.

Shortage Of Nurses Upsets Ohio Hospitals

Only Army Able To Find All It Needs; Low Wages Blamed

COLUMBUS, O., Aug. 15 (AP)—An acute shortage of nurses is plaguing Ohio's hospitals.

It is delaying the opening of new hospital facilities and hindering the smooth operation of existing institutions.

It affects both privately and publicly supported hospitals. In the stiff competition for more nurses only the Army appears satisfied with its results in the Buckeye State.

A survey by the Associated Press this week showed there are thousands of vacancies for nurses in Ohio. The hardest jobs to fill are staff positions in hospitals. The reason? They pay the least.

Nurses are in more demand today than ever before. They are wanted in industry, by the Army and Navy for private duty, in doctors' offices, by airlines for hostesses and in scores of places where 20 years ago they were not employed.

In this keen competition the hospitals suffer. Most of them can't pay the wages a nurse can get elsewhere. In addition the rapid expansion of hospital facilities since the end of World War Two has increased the demand for nurses out of all proportion to their availability.

No one knows for sure just how many nurses there are in Ohio today. Since 1915 some 54,000 have been registered by the State Nursing Board. But many of these are no longer practicing.

The Ohio State Nurses Association claims it has a membership

MARY PICKFORD, America's sweetheart of silent movies era, gets a couple of buses at the Italian embassy in Paris where she was presented a medal in gratitude for her work in behalf of Italian war orphans. of more than 13,000 and that most of these are still nursing.

There is at least one vigorous dissent on the question of a nursing shortage. It comes from Mrs. Elizabeth August, general secretary of the nurses' association, a professional group to which most practicing nurses in Ohio belong.

"The so-called nursing shortage pay the wages a nurse can get elsewhere. There are many, many nurses working in other fields who would go back to hospital nursing if they could get decent salaries and better treatment."

Poor personnel practices and bad treatment are keeping many qualified nurses away from staff work in hospitals. It is only natural that they want to work elsewhere.

One of the main reasons for the shortage of nurses is marriage. A survey several years ago showed one-third of the graduates of Ohio nursing schools married between the time they were graduated and the time they were registered with the State Nursing Board—a period of several months at most.

Many of these young married nurses work only a short time in hospitals. They find better paying jobs or retire to raise families. Recently, however, there has been a trend toward the return of women to nursing after their children have grown up.

While the hospitals clamor for all the nurses they can get, only the Army appears satisfied with the progress of its nurse recruiting drive in Ohio.

"We've done so well we haven't had to call up any nurses involuntarily from the Reserve Corps since last December," an Army recruiting officer at Ft. Hayes said.

The prospect of being an Army officer appeals to many young nurses. And the pay, with regular increases and allowances for dependency and uniforms, and overseas

1,350 Pupils Due At School In Midland

Increase Of 50 Seen With New Term Set To Begin On Sept. 4

An enrollment of 1,350—about 50 more than last year—is expected when Midland Public Schools open the 1951-52 term Tuesday, Sept. 4. Approximately 350 are expected to enter the elementary schools of which Miss Margaret Hogan again will be supervisor. David A. Snyder is principal of the Junior and Senior High School.

Superintendent Ralph Jewell will meet with all the school personnel at 8:30 the morning school opens. Afterward teachers will meet with their respective principals preparatory to admitting the pupils in the afternoon session.

Superintendent Jewell said there are few changes in the educational program. The curriculum in the Commercial Department has been modified somewhat to conform with recommendations of the State Department of Education.

Elementary teachers will continue their study of a revised program and High School teachers will prepare for an evaluation in February.

The staff consists of 70 teachers and supervisors.

New members of the faculty are Miss Ann Bash, Spanish; Mrs. Rose Mullen, third grade; Norman Mulac, Machine Shop; George Orndich, Wood Shop; Charles Polce, driver training and football; John Petchel, Social Studies and head football coach; Miss Lois Shuster, General Home Economics; Stanley Spring, Drafting and Social Studies; and Mrs. Agnes Sullivan, kindergarten.

Many improvements have been made during the Summer, including fire escapes at the First and Seventh St. Schools, new modern furniture in many rooms, 10 additional classrooms, new lighting systems in many rooms, new heating system at the First St. School, new medical clinic at Fourth St., new concrete driveway at the High School, new concession building at the Athletic Field and painting of the buildings inside and out.

With the cooperation of Boulogh Council a new concrete ice skating rink has been constructed at Seventh St., and during Summer months can be used for tennis, basketball, snailboard and other outdoor activities.

The two worst gas wasters aside from habitual speeding are jack-rabbit starts and quick stops. Roos said. Speed alone cuts mileage almost in half.

His study showed that faulty spark settings, cylinder compression and tire pressures cut gasoline efficiency between 3 and 6 per cent and costs the motorist between one and two cents extra for each mile he drives.

Other common mechanical faults are dirty air filters, dragging brakes and improper wheel alignment.

Roos concluded that the average motorist gets less than half the motor mileage he should out of a gallon of gasoline.

Engineer Blames Gasoline Waste On Three Things

BUFFALO (UP)—Three cardinal sins of the gasoline wastrel are costing New York state motorists more than 274 million dollars annually according to one of America's top automotive engineers.

Delmar G. Roos, vice president of Willys-Overland, blames the waste on impatience, negligence and incompetence. Because of it every New York automobile owner adds about $81 to his gasoline tab each year, Roos said.

Roos made his conclusions after a year-long series of controlled mileage tests. His figures on gasoline wastage were based on current gasoline prices throughout the state, number of miles 'got per gallon' by the average motorist and the latest available mileage figures released by the National Safety Council.

Senate To Join In Czech Slap

Will Follow House In 'Free-Oatis' Drive

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—Prompt Senate action was predicted today on a House-passed resolution to suspend trade relations with Red Czechoslovakia until William N. Oatis is freed from a Prague prison.

Oatis, Indiana-born Associated Press correspondent at Prague, was sentenced to 10 years imprisonment last month after what the House described as a sham trial in Prague on espionage charges.

Chairman Connally (D) of Texas of the Senate foreign relations committee told newsmen he is in favor of the object of the House resolution and believes the Senate will endorse it. The Senate committee, he said, probably will send the resolution to the Senate for a vote next week.

The resolution, a modified version of an earlier tough approach does not have any binding legal effect. It merely expresses the sense of Congress in the Oatis case.

The House yesterday voted 362 to 1 in favor of an immediate U.S. break in commercial relations with the Czech government and suspension of those relations until Oatis is freed.

The only dissenting House vote came from Representative Wood (R) of Idaho who explained to newsmen he didn't like the resolution's reference to the United Nations, an organization he opposes. The resolution calls for formal transmission of the congressional complaint to the U.N.

In addition to urging a break in commercial ties it calls on the U.S. government to take all possible action to get Oatis out of prison. Earl Loughmeyer, Harry Excell, Joe Hughes, Robert Madden and other wags, Floyd Baucus, William Daugherty, Thomas Platt and State Representative Delmar T. O'Hara.

Members of American Legion Post 70 of Wellsville and auxiliary who attended the state convention that ended Sunday in Columbus included Sam Mayhew, commander, E. R. Warden, William Bratt, Mayor C. C. Leatherberry, Don Salisbury, Russell Dyer.

AUGUSTA, Me. (UP)—Talk about Yankee ingenuity. Even the sharpest Yankee had nothing on this full-blooded Penobscot Indian.

Last year, the Maine legislature put Francis out of business when it authorized construction of a $165,000 bridge to the Indian reservation.

Partly as a joke, Francis started selling baskets and trinkets to legislators in the statehouse here. He now provides employment to four Indian girls and says he is making 10 times more money than he ever made as a ferryman.

On Defense Housing

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (AP)—A $1,700,000 defense housing bill was tabbed for final approval in the House today.

The administration lost only one significant skirmish after the opening of debate yesterday.

By a shaky three-vote margin subject to possible overturn on a later roll call an amendment was pushed through calling for suspension, rather than relaxation, of Regulation 'X' building credit restrictions in critical housing areas. The tentative vote was 108 to 105.

Sylvester Francis 34, made a living for 10 years by operating the ferry between Indian Island in the Penobscot river and Old Town.

Last year, the Maine legislature put Francis out of business when it authorized construction of a $165,000 bridge to the Indian reservation.

Partly as a joke, Francis started selling baskets and trinkets to legislators in the statehouse here. He now provides employment to four Indian girls and says he is making 10 times more money than he ever made as a ferryman.
